Cable company denies commission charges

By TOM KISKEN

SOUTH BAY - Denying she is motivated by political gains, South Bay Mayor Vernita Cox says she'll continue to address residents' cable service complaints, despite Sunbelt Cable's protests.

Cox's and other commissioner's complaints about the service, at the June 5 commission meeting, brought back an angered response from Kevin McLaughlin, vice president at Sunbelt Cable Ltd.

"We were caught, I believe, by a power play... I'm not going to let Sunbelt's name be dragged through the mud in this manner."

Commissioners, on June 5, agreed unanimously to ask the Federal Communications Commission to investigate the quality of cable service provided by Sunbelt.

Cox, a candidate for the District Five seat on Palm Beach County Commission, said the commission's move was precipitated by complaints from the public, not politics. She had received at least three complaints in the last few weeks, she said. "If I didn't receive the calls, I wouldn't have made the complaints."

If problems with cable service persists, Cox said, she will continue to complain publicly. "I take complaints from the city and I report them," she said.

McLaughlin said the move caught him completely off guard. "We have not received any formal complaints from the City of South Bay, be they verbal or written," he said.

"I'm confused, I'm aggravated," McLaughlin added.

Unless commissioners can verify the complaints in writing, McLaughlin said, the company may consider retaliatory action. "Right now, I suggest to the city fathers of South Bay that they present documented proof that they have these type of problems."

Commissioners have met with Sunbelt representatives several times in the last year, each time alerting the company to their concern about the service.

Cox said she did not see why documented proof was necessary, as the company had not required such proof in the past. She said she would prefer customers to complain directly to the cable company, but again added she will follow up complaints brought to her attention.

McLaughlin argued that actually cable service has been improved significantly. He said he met recently with South Bay City Manager Lomax Harrelle and was congratulated for the cable improvements.

Gulf and Western to sell Fla. Division

Gulf and Western Industries Inc. officials announced Tuesday, June 12, that they plan on selling all sugar growing operations and related holdings in Florida and the Dominican Republic.

Cooperative, of Moore Haven.

Jerry Sherman, corporate communications officer with Gulf and Western, said the segment of the company to be sold brought in $300 million in sales last year.

Gulf and Western will continue to operate their Florida mills until a suitable buyer is found, Sherman said.

PAHOKEE'S High School graduation, Wednesday, June 6, was more celebration than ceremony.

Cable pirates cutoff

About 2,500 illegal cable hookups were recently cut off in the Glades area, reports representatives of Sunbelt Cable Ltd.

Kevin McLaughlin, Sunbelt vice president, said about 500 illegal hookups were discovered in South Bay in a recent audit, while 2,000 illegal hookups were found in Belle Glade and another 100 in Pahokee.

Virtually, all complaints received in recent weeks have been generated by those who were illegally receiving cable service and then had it cut off, McLaughlin said. He added that very few people are complaining to begin with.

"I'm assuming people who were receiving the service for free and now aren't getting it all are going to complain."

The Florida Grand Jury indicted Romena for first degree murder, Thursday morning.

Romena was arrested May 19. Police said he confessed to stabbing Kirchman, on Tuesday, May 15, after she refused to give him cocaine.

Romena, of Clewiston, was arraigned before Harper, Friday, June 8. The judge

Pahokee Council eyes harbor situation

PAHOKEE - City plans for the Pahokee harbor and the status of the 50-year marina lease will be discussed by the City Council in a workshop, Tuesday, June 19, at 7 p.m.

Mayor Duncan Padgett suggested, at the council meeting Tuesday, June 12, the city hold the workshop in order to determine where they stand, particularly in relation to the lease with the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation, approved by the council more than a year ago.

"I don't think the city knows what it wants to do yet," he said.

Commission to review zoning codes

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE - The City Commission indicated the need for housing in Belle Glade has mandated the revision of city zoning codes.

Mayor Thomas Altman and Commissioner Dan Bythwood stated, at the commission's meeting, Monday, June 11, that current laws do not allow for enough flexibility in providing housing.

"We need housing..." Bythwood said. "We need to make changes. If we can help that's what we're here for."

Commissioners directed city staff to begin a review of all commercial and residential zoning codes.

The commission approved two zoning changes, despite Planning and Zoning Board recommendations for denial, which will allow multi-unit housing facilities to be built in residential areas.

Altman, admitting that the requests constituted spot zoning, said the commission was going to have to spot zone in places until the code was revised.

The commission approved Agnes Frazier's request to expand her mother's home, at 529 S.W. 10th St., into a duplex. Frazier said her mother's home is substandard and the only way to improve it is by re-building. The addition to the home will also allow the woman to lease out and make some extra income, Frazier said.

In supporting the request change, Altman said, "I feel that the times and the economic conditions need to influence our decisions in these matters."

The commission also approved a request to zone property R-3 instead of R-2, on the 200 block of N.W. 11th St. Kenneth Knowles, pro-

Tri-Cities League to discuss SFWMD

BELLE GLADE - The Tri-Cities League will meet in a special meeting to discuss the status of the Southern Florida Water Management District, Wednesday, June 20, at 7 p.m., in the Belle Glade Country Club.

Municipal leaders from Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee will hear presentations concerning recent developments on the composition and direction of the SFWMD and its effect on the Glades area.

Belle Glade Mayor Thomas Altman noted much concern has been generated over recent appointments to the SFWMD Board of Directors. He said many of maintained that these appointments reflect ecological, rather than agricultural interest.

At the last Tri-Cities meeting, South Bay Commissioner Don Tanner suggested the league write an official letter of protest to the governor regarding recent appointments. The league decided to discuss the issue further in the special meeting before taking any action.

SIX SUBSTANDARD HOUSES occupied this lot, 632 S.W. Ave. D, Belle Glade, Tuesday morning, June 12. However by sunset, all had been torn down by city employees. Planning and Community Development Director Renar Harvin said that as a result of building code enforcement, the city is in the process of demolishing 12 substandard single family units. The city is also financing the demolition of three commercial buildings, being torn down by private contractors. And several private residents are tearing down their buildings, again all as result of code enforcement.

Birthing center delivers 1st baby

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE - Pass out the cigars. The newly opened Glades Child Birth Center's staff delivered its first baby, Wednesday, June 6.

Maria Borja, of Belle Glade, gave birth to a 7-pound, 4-ounce baby girl, Rosa Amber, at 1:17 p.m., Wednesday, one day after the center opened for service.

Sister Timothy Galbraith, center director and the midwife who delivered the baby, said the birth was an official stamp of approval for the facility located at Glades General Hospital and sponsored by the Florida Community Health Centers.

"It works," she said. "We can do it."

The birth showed off many of the strengths of the new center and culminated more than two years of preparatory work, Galbraith said. "The big point is that we're an alternative to homebirth, not an alternative to hospitals," she noted.

Rosa Borja was born in one of the center's "family rooms" and was never taken out of her mother's sight, Galbraith continued.

The rooms themselves are arranged to reinforce the family feeling. Equipped with an easy

Purse snatching reported on the rise

BELLE GLADE — "They're snatching purses just about every time you turn around."

So reported Amelia Houston, of Belle Glade, at the City Commission meeting, Monday, June 11. Houston and several other women asked commissioners to address the growing street theft problems in the Fifth Street area.

Houston told commissioners that purse snatching had become increasingly prevalent in recent weeks. "It's gotten so bad, that we found no other way to deal with it than to approach you," she said.

Police Chief D. Bill Mathis said purse snatching almost always increases during the summer. The main barrier in fighting the problem is lack of manpower, he added. "We're taking whatever resources we have and are trying to address it (purse snatching)."

Mathis said walking patrols in the past have been quite successful in reducing street crime. He said the force used walking patrols to affect a sweep of street crime on Avenue A about two months ago.

Commissioner Dan Bythwood suggested fellow-commissioners consider hiring additional patrolmen. Two walking patrols on Fifth Street, two on Sixth Street, and one in the plaza would effectively reduce crime, he stated.

"We just need patrolmen where the crime is," he said, adding the commission would have to address the problem later this summer in budget sessions.

Mathis told the commission that, in salary alone, it would cost about $60,000 to hire an additional four officers to patrol the Fifth Street area.

Altman asked Mathis to meet with the women, study the problem and then make a report back to the commission, including any needed budget adjustments. He urged city residents to continue to communicate to police and let them know about any concerns.

Several other women addressed the council and related personal experiences where they had been victims of purse snatching.

Also at Monday's meeting, City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang reported Mathis had written a letter commending all officers involved in the investigation of the Tina Kuchman murder. Mathis commended Inspector Mike Miller, Lt. Louis Lowery, Lt. George Farnall, Sgt. Lee O. Kielman, Sgt. Daniel E. Criss, Detective John Carney, Detective Jack Pulewider, Detective Albert Dowdell, Detective Mike Johnson, Patrolman William Kenny, Patrolman Darren Kirch and ID Officer F.W. Murray.

Another city employee, Naomie Jones, of the parks and recreation department, also received a commendation from Johnnie Rutledge, recreation director. Rutledge reported Jones recently turned over about $1,163.61, which she found at the Lake Shore Recreation Center.

party owner, stated he was considering the improvement of an additional apartment building on his property in order to provide additional housing.

Bythwood pointed at the dire need for housing, in supporting the zoning request. "Houses are being torn down every day. We need some place to put these people."

Altman advised the Planning and Zoning Board that the commission seriously considered board recommendations before making Harrelle said he commended McGlaughlin on the improvement in office receptionists. A great deal of complaints about Sunbelt concerned the rude treatment customers were receiving from receptionists, he said, adding this aspect has improved greatly.

Confirming that so far the city has not submitted any written complaints to Sunbelt, Harrelle said he would ask each commissioner to compile a written list of complaints received.

McGlaughlin said that once a written list is submitted, the company would be eager to meet with commissioners and resolve any problems.

Also at the June 5 commission meeting, Commissioner Don Tanner suggested the city drop Sunbelt's franchise permit, thus removing any relationship between the city and the cable company.

McGlaughlin said he did not see how dropping the franchise fee would benefit either the city, or the cable company. He added he was not sure if the company could continue to service the city without the franchise, noting the company's lawyers would have to answer that question.

decisions. Planning and Zoning members should not take the commission's decision as an indication that board recommendations carry no weight, he said.

In other commission action:

Commissioner's approved a sub lease agreement, which will give Chem Air Spray a spot at the city airport. The lease, which will run at least until Jan. 5, 1995, is the first long term agreement at the airport. Chem Air Spray will pay the city about $3,590 annually.

City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang was directed to write a letter to the Palm Beach County Commission, expressing the city's opposition to any change in gun control laws. County commissioners were scheduled to make a decision on the proposed cooling off period, which would affect those applying for gun permits, at Tuesday's meeting. Strang informed commissioners that if the county approved a cooling off period, the city could nullify the law by passing its own ordinance.

The city approved the purchase of new surveillance equipment for the police department for about $2,987 from Motorola Communications and Electronics Inc.

The city will again participate in the Palm Beach County Urban League summer youth jobs program. Renar Harvin, planning and community development director, told commissioners the city hopes to have 35 youth working in various city departments this summer through the program. Last year, about 31 youth worked for the city, he noted.

Commissioner Charles Goodell reported the Marina Ad Hoc Committee held its first meeting recently. Strang noted the committee will soon hold some type of public hearing, to discuss future marina plans.

Commissioners presented a plaque honoring August Kirchman for his years of service on the Planning and Zoning Board. Earlier, this year Kirchman submitted his resignation from the board, after serving for over 20 years.

A member of the Board of Adjustments, Marlan Chapman, recently submitted his resignation. Commissioners approved the resignation at Monday's meeting.

Five new members of the Black Gold Jubilee Committee met commission approval: Barbara Milligan, Gladys Ganzy, Wayne Boynton, Cheryl Stein and Louise Rainey. Outgoing jubilee committee members include Charla Sizemore, P.A. Kirchman, Harma Miller, David Spooner and Brett McCormick.

The commission tentatively approved three additions to the city's annexation committee: Israel Bez, Frank Teels and Homer Hand.

Strang presented commissioners with a certificate of appreciation from the Lake Shore Middle School Future Business Leaders Association.

People who illegally hook-up their television to Sunbelt Cable, after already being cut off once, will be subject to legal prosecution, McGlaughlin added.

Sunbelt's Glades audit was conducted in April and May. McGlaughlin said all residents in the three communities who were illegally hooked up at that time were discovered and cut off.

Cleanup planned in South Bay

SOUTH BAY — South Bay police need public cooperation in keeping junked cars out of the city, according to the chief of police.

Police Chief Ray Humston said police are continually working to keep abandoned, or junk vehicles out of the city, and especially off vacant lots. "Public cooperation makes this a whole lot easier," he said.

Just last month, police issued a citation, under the city's nuisance ordinance, to a local resident, who kept several junk cars on his property. Humston noted that while police tried to work with the man, the situation could not be resolved.

For the most part, the city's lots are respected by the public and kept clean, Humston said. "I would compare the cleanliness of this city to any in the Glades," he added.

However, occasionally an impromptu car lot pops up. When police see junk cars, they try to locate the owner and have them removed. Humston said. Usually the owners are more than willing to help out, he added. For example, owners of several cars parked on the corner of SR 80 and US 27 just recently removed their cars, after being contacted by police.

Occasionally, however, police are forced to take additional measures. In rare cases, Humston said, citations are issued and the suspected violator is given a notice to appear in court, where they could face a fine, or court directed to clean their property.

Police pursue shooting suspect

BELLE GLADE — Police report they are pursuing a suspect believed to be involved in Wednesday night's June 6 shooting at Osceola Center, which cost a victim his leg.

One suspect has been arrested in the case. Belle Glade Police Detective Mike Johnson said he has identified a suspect, but has not yet located him and not yet released the name.

One of two men shot during the incident, Americo Blanco, 23, of the Osceola Center, was charged with two counts of aggravated battery.

Emilio Garcia Villarreal, 25, Apt. 48, Osceola Center, was arrested early Thursday morning, June 7, and charged with two counts of aggravated battery.

Woman charged with aggravated battery

SOUTH BAY — A local woman was charged with aggravated battery in connection with a stabbing, Friday night, June 8.

South Bay Patrolman Danny Jones arrested Annie Kate Dunning, 30, of 236 N.W. 9th Ave, South Bay, early Saturday morning.

Jones said a 17-year-old girl reported Dunning stabbed her several times with a small knife about 11:45 p.m. Friday night, in the alley between NW 10th Ave. and NW 9th Ave.

Historical reflections

Editor's note: The following is the second part in a series documenting Carl Lockmiller's first years in the Glades.

As Told By CARL LOCKMILLER
To RUTHS. IRVIN

Just before Mother and Zelma joined us at our new home near Bean City in 1915, Dad hired us out to clear and dig up land for a Mr. Dowell who was getting ready to cultivate his land and we were glad to do it. Dad was trying to get cash money in hand so he could bring Mother and Zelma to Florida and make it more comfortable for them.

They arrived and if my mother was surprised to be living in a tar paper house set back in the cypress apple trees, she never indicated it. She was only too happy to get all her family together again. I never heard mother complain about anything. She had, after all, lived under pioneering conditions in Washington and Oregon. She was amazed at the size and variety of the vegetables we were growing in the rich black mud land we had cleared. We did not have to fertilize the soil at all to grow vegetables but we had to spray them to kill insects. It was not long before Dad built a five-room house east of our first house and near the Van Horns.

Orel Van Horn had come to this spot in 1913. Ivan and his two sisters, Ruby and Una, came in 1914 and helped their father build a tar paper frame house just as Frank and I helped our father build ours.

Their mother, brother, Clifton, came after the house was built. The cove on the lake near our house was known as Lockmiller's Cove. Mrs. Van Horn invited us over to their house one time to have Sunday dinner with them. Mr. Van Horn had a big alligator, almost twelve feet long, staked out in their yard. I don't know why he was keeping it - maybe he was keeping it to sell.

Other farmers who came to the area beside my Dad and Uncle Marion and the Van Horns were the Hudsons and Orren Manning who were Canadians. Arthur Wells also came to the Bean City area and became a big farmer. He patterned his farming after my Dad because Dad was the only one to have Sunday dinner with them. Mr. Van Horn had a big alligator, almost twelve feet long, staked out in their yard. I don't know why he was keeping it - maybe he was keeping it to sell.

Mr. Van Horn had a big alligator, almost twelve feet long, staked out in their yard. I don't know why he was keeping it - maybe he was keeping it to sell.

Other farmers who came to the area beside my Dad and Uncle Marion and the Van Horns were the Hudsons and Orren Manning who were Canadians. Arthur Wells also came to the Bean City area and became a big farmer. He patterned his farming after my Dad because Dad was the only one to have Sunday dinner with them. The war on drugs and crime

By: SEN. PAULA HAWKINS

In 1983, 25,000 people under the age of 25 died in traffic accidents.

This is a heartbreaking statistic.

In that same year, fifty-thousand young lives were snuffed out due to drugs. These were also tragic and unnecessary deaths.

If the statistics I have just stated are not chilling enough, the next fact is even more tragic.

Last year, 15,000 young people, who had had nothing to do with drugs, died because they were victims of drug-related crimes. The combination of drugs and crime is deadly.

These newly-released statistics, provided by Dr. Robert Baird of the Haven Clinic in New York, make me realize that we all American citizens cannot continue to pay the price tag demanded by the alliance between drugs and crime. We must stop paying by sacrificing our property and our social stability, and with the lives of our young people. Law-abiding citizens are being driven inside, and must bar their doors behind them; the wrong people are being forced behind bars. Criminals and not the elderly should be afraid to walk the streets; young people should be our national assets and not part of a national tragedy.

I strongly believe that tougher sentencing laws must be enacted to make our streets safe again.

The criminals who supply drugs to our citizens must be punished for the murders and saboteurs they are. They are strangling our way of life, betraying our children, and sabotaging our lives.

The time has come to put these crime-prone addicts and drug traffickers away, and restore a civilized way of life to crime-plagued American citizens.

The cost to society in terms of money and quality of life has become too high. As Americans, we must cease to allow drug traffickers to get away with light bills, soft sentences and early paroles.

On April 25, 1984, I introduced legislation that will crack down on these peddlers of death and misery. My Drug and Violent Crime Sentencing Act is designed to do something to show that the U.S. Congress and the American people are fed up.

Here's what my bill would do.

For possession with intent to sell heroin or cocaine, 10 kilograms or more; mandatory life imprisonment. Plus, a fine of $500,000. Also, the trafficker's property is subject to criminal forfeiture.

For possession with intent to sell less than 10 kilograms, but more than 100 grams, mandatory 20 year sentence, and a fine of $250,000. Also, property is subject to forfeiture.

For possession with intent to sell 10 kilograms or more of marijuana, mandatory 20 year sentence, with a fine of not more than $250,000. Property subject to forfeiture.

And finally, for murder committed during production or trafficking of an illegal or controlled substance, mandatory life sentence or punishment by death if the verdict of the jury shall so direct. And again, property subject to forfeiture.

We need a bold statement by the Senate and the House that we really are getting tough with drug trafficking. We need action now to show that we mean business if our war on drugs is to be successful.

If Congress has any courage at all, it will act to pass this bill.

The road to eternal life

On the top of a mountain on a clear, warm day you feel so good. You can see almost forever as the song goes. There is only a light breeze blowing in your face. A peace and calmness comes over you and in the quiet you want to linger in this feeling of a wall-being.

Peter, James and John had gone to a high mountain with Jesus. Their Master becomes a heavenly vision. His face is shining. His clothing a dazzling white. Moses, the great liberator, and Elijah, the prototype spokesman for God and who was to reappear before the Messiah came, were suddenly with Jesus.

Peter and his fellow disciples were amazed. This was a great occasion. The Big Fisherman did not want it to end. "...And Peter said to Jesus, 'Lord, it is well that we are here; if you wish, I will make three booths here, one for Moses and one for Elijah.' He was still speaking, when lo, a bright cloud overshadowed them and a voice from the cloud said, 'This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased, listen to him.' " Matt. 17:4-5.

The mountain-top experience could not continue. Life has to be lived in the valley. Upon hearing the heavenly approbation, the disciples fell on their faces and were filled with awe. "...But Jesus came and touched them, saying, 'Rise, and have no fear.' " Matt. 17:7.

During the weeks when revival meetings are held many people have a similar experience to that of the disciples. It is a high religious experience. There is no way for it to go on and it is impossible to completely share it. You will tell people of this great happening but unless they were they can begin to feel it. The experience must be brought down to the everyday way of life.

There is also a concern for those in the valley. They saw the others go up with Christ to the mountain-top and they had to remain in the dusty valley below.

The disciples stayed down were struggling with the day-to-day problems of life. A man had brought his son who was suffering from epilepsy to Christ to be healed. They could do nothing for the boy and were frustrated.

When Jesus and the three disciples returned to the other disciples, they saw a great crowd about them and the scribes arguing with them. Being advised of the situation Jesus said, "O faithless generation, how long am I to bear with you?"

Jesus asked that the boy be brought to Him. The father told Jesus of the boy's condition and said, "If you can do anything have pity on us, and help us." "...And Jesus said to him 'If you can! All things are possible to him who believes.' " Mark 9:23-24.

The mountain-top and the valley experience show FIRST you cannot remain on the peak of religious experience. SECOND, that the valley is full of work and disappointment.

The disciples found that Jesus could not allow them to stay on the mountain and that He was soon to die at the hands of men. Jesus stunned them at every turn. He was trying to prepare them for their lives without them.

Another lesson we learn is that we need the mountain-top experience to lift us when we are down and depressed. Whenever we are with Christ we can be lifted into an exciting religious experience.

Jesus told the disciples that miracles could not be done without prayer. Prayer is a necessity not only for miracles but for all of life. When things are going well we seem to forget about God and therefore lose touch.

Life will always have its ups and downs, but we can strive through prayer and closeness to Christ to walk on the road between the mountain and the valley. Christ is ready to meet us anywhere and lead us to road of eternal life.

GEORGE PARKER FARNALL

George P. Farnall, 89, of 980 S.E. 3rd St., Belle Glade died June 5 at Glades General Hospital. He was a native of Kensington, England.

In 1917, he served with the U.S. Army in Europe during World War I, he served with an ambulance company and as a cook and was honorably discharged two years later. He attended the University of Florida where he studied mechanical engineering for three years, he left school and went to work as an account agent with the Fruit Growers Express.

Later Mr. Farnall began dabbling in real estate in the Titusville area. He came to Belle Glade in 1930 and was soon appointed Postmaster at a starting salary of $10 a week. He was in many new innovations—during his career with the postal service. He was on hand for the first air mail flight into Belle Glade in August 1937.

Mr. Farnall also helped establish the home delivery system for the Belle Glade area in the late 1940's. As a sideline to his work with the postal service, he served as a displayman for the U.S. Weather Service for 25 years, his job was posting weather flags over Lake Okechobee.

Farnall oversaw the construction of the post office on West Avenue A in 1932. He coordinated the move into a new building on S.W. Avenue D in 1950, but retired shortly before the post office moved again in 1981. He was a charter member of the American Legion Post 20 and the Belle Glade Rotary Club, serving as secretary to the first 14 club presidents. He also was a member of the National Association of Postmasters and served as district deputy grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias.

Pate - Sheer exchange vows

In the British Room of the PGA Sheraton Resort Hotel in Palm Beach Gardens, Miss Cindy Marie Pate and Mr. Scott Samuel Sheer were united in marriage Saturday, April 28, with a double ring ceremony, Judge James T. Carlisle officiating.

Against a background of palms and ficus, with pre-wedding flute selections, "Memories" from the theme of Cat's, and "Evergreen", rendered by Mr. Paul Chafin, the vows were exchanged.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Clarence Pate of Belle Glade, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sheer of West Palm Beach.

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride was likened to a portrait of the past. Her mid-length gown, designed by Albert Capraro, was of delicate white cotton organdy. The berth collar was trimmed with Belgium cotton lace in points, with sleeves, elbow length, heavily puffed and finished with the pointed lace.

The full skirt was two tiered with lace point hems. Her stockings were white lace, and she wore white silk slippers. The bridal jewelry was a string of matched pearls, gift of her parents.

The bride's hair was braided and babies breath was entwined. The bouquet was a cascade of white Masterpiece roses, tommie orchids, and stephanitis, with white satin streamers.

The groom wore a black tuxedo. His boutonniere was a white Masterpiece rose. The best man, Brian Hoffer, wore the same design tuxedo and boutonniere.

The Maid of Honor was Miss Mona Miller. Bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Miss Randi Sheer, and Miss Anne Thiebaut.

The bride's attendants' dresses were mid-length two-piece lined mauve colored, with front and back yokes made of dyed-to-match imported cotton lace. The sleeves and hems of the skirts were bordered with the lace points. Hosiery and pumps were pale gray. Each carried a stem of rubrum lilies tied with mauve satin ribbon.

The niece of the bride, Miss Shawn Pate, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a white linen Ralph Lauren ankle length dress with cross-stitched bodice, with a pink satin ribbon sash. She carried a white basket of rose petals.

The groomsmen were brothers of the bride, Stephen Lee Pate and Craig Dennis Pate. They were attired in black tuxedos, with white Masterpiece rose boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a pastel pink silk shantung dress, front pleated from neck to hem, elbow length sleeves. Her sash was double-wrapped, ending with a side bow. Her shoulder corsage was of double cymbidium orchids.

The groom's mother was attired in a pale gray linen dress fashioned with a long waist, cape sleeves, finished with imported pointed lace hemline. Tommie orchids were worn in her hair in a side effect.

MR. AND MRS. SCOTT SAMUEL SHEER

The maternal grandfather, Gertrude Pearlman, chose a soft flowing white floral silk crepe dress with matching slippers. A double cymbidium orchid corsage completed her costume.

The bridal reception was presented in the Banquet Room of the Sheraton. A hot and cold buffet luncheon was served to the seated guests.

The tables were covered with white damask cloths each centered with a white candle encircled with pink bridal roses, white mums, and greenery.

The wedding cake was four-tiered, topped with white porcelain bride and groom. The cake was placed on a round table bordered with pink bridal roses, white mums and fern.

Dinner and dance music was furnished throughout the afternoon by The Paul Chafin Quartet.

Miss Cathy Chafin of Lake Worth presided at the bride's book. She is the daughter of the bandmaster.

For the going-away costume, the bride wore a pants-suit, white and beige, featuring a double-breasted jacket.

The bride is a graduate of Glades Day School, and attended Palm Beach Junior College and Mars Hill College. The groom is a graduate of John I. Leonard High School, and attended Miami Dade and Palm Beach Jr. Colleges. He is a Flight Engineer with an airline in Texas, where the couple is residing.

Wedding guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens of Gainesville; Mrs. Charlotte Barnett and daughter Karen, of Inverness; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Rice, Jr. of Jupiter; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson, Mrs. Timmy Prescott of Lake Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Griffin and son, Tyler, of Longwood; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Green and family of McClelleny; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kream of New Jersey; Mrs. Carrie Campbell of Riviera Beach; Miss Anne L. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas VanAntwerp, Mrs. Lawrence Will and son, Charles, of West Palm Beach; Mrs. Susie Gilman of Winter Haven; and a host of friends from the Glades area, among them the wedding director, Betty H. Thiebaut.

Holloway, Chamblee nuptials exchanged

BELLE GLADE—Alma Collette Holloway and James Michael Chamblee exchanged wedding vows in a private ceremony, April 24.

The double ring wedding was performed by Marie King at the Little Wedding Chapel in West Palm Beach.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Holloway of Clewiston. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Chamblee of Belle Glade.

The bride wore an ivory slipper satin gown with a tulie covered bodice decorated with lace appliques and seed pearls. The gown featured a Queen Anne neckline with accoutured empire waist, dipping in back. The long tapered sleeves were accented with lace and seed pearls.

The skirt was a straight A-line with a full train. Lace appliques and seed pearls were scattered on the skirt and train.

Her headpiece was a crown of ivory silk roses attached to a waist-length veil of tulie trimmed with scalloped chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of light pink and ivory alstroemeria lilies.

The groom wore a sport suit of camel with dark brown pants. His boutonniere was made up of light pink and ivory alstroemeria lilies.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES MICHAEL CHAMBLEE

The Wedding March was played and the ceremony was performed beneath a bridal arch with greenery and daisies.

A private reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Jacks of Belle Glade.

The three tiered wedding cake featured a cluster of pink roses in the center of the bottom layer. It was trimmed in light pink with pink roses.

Mrs. Patsy Steven, Mrs. Joyce Chamblee and Mrs. Janet Jacks assisted in the serving.

The couple plan to take a wedding trip at a later date.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Clewiston High School. She attended Palm Beach State Junior College and is currently enrolled in graduate of Palm the Practical Nursing Beach Junior College. Program at West He also attended Technical Education Florida Atlantic Center, Belle Glade. University.

Pahokee seniors graduate

PAHOKEE—It was more celebration than ceremony at the Pahokee High School gymnasium, Wednesday, June 6, as about 100 graduating seniors received their diplomas. Students cheered classmates exuberantly as they received their diplomas, many of them lifting their arms in triumph and hugging each other as they exited off the stage.

This camaraderie and spirit was noted by Valedictorian Kevin Moore in his farewell speech. Moore noted the friendships and spirit which were such a big part of the class of '84, helped make the years at Pahokee High School special.

Winsome Benjamin, salutatorian, stressed the future in her welcoming address. Members will face some hard times, but must retain the tenacity, faith and courage to overcome difficulties and make themselves successful, she said.

Bob Lee, of U.S. Sugar Corp., made a special presentation of the company's annual $12,000 college scholarship to the class valedictorian, Kevin Moore.

Principal Jack Redding presented diplomas.

2,000 turnout for GCCHS graduation

BELLE GLADE—Some 2,000 people turned out to honor Glades Central Community High School's class of '84 in graduation ceremonies, Wednesday, June 6.

About 290 seniors received their diplomas from H.W. Berryman, director of regular institution with the Palm Beach County School District.

Dr. Effie Grear, Glades Central principal, noted the turnout was one of the largest in the school's history. The capacity crowd, she said, befit the class' rank as a very special group.

"They are a very special, and talented group of individuals," Grear said. "I hope for the best in whatever they meet in the future."

The seniors were the first class at the school to show marked improvement on test scores, Grear said.

Salutatorian Charmaine Amos gave the welcome speech at graduation. Cornesha Dukes spoke on senior reflections and Ana Ramos, class valedictorian, gave the farewell address.

Reeves received a number of awards. They included the Superior Performance Award, Outstanding General Military Council Award, the Cadet of the Month Award two times, the General Dynamics award, as well as a full scholarship to the University.

Reeves graduated in May from the University and received his Bachelor of Engineering degree and was also commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force.

He is scheduled to report to Williams Air Force Base in Phoenix, Arizona, December 17, to begin undergraduate pilot training. Until that date, he is residing with his parents in South Bay.

became interested in and enrolled in the Air Force ROTC program.

During his sophomore year, Reeves said he received a pilot slot from the Air Force which marked him for future pilot training.

At the start of his junior year he received a full scholarship from the Air Force.

By the end of the first semester of his senior year, Second Lt. Reeves had received initial lessons from the Air Force and had made his first solo flight.

While at the University he studied engineering and mathematics in addition to his ROTC aerospace classes.

Lt. Reeves speaks to Lake Shore students

BELLE GLADE—Second Lieutenant Benjamin T. Reeves spoke to several groups of students at Lake Shore Elementary School last week about the Air Force and its way of life.

Principal Eddie H. Fitzgerald invited Reeves to speak to the classes. Reeves concluded each session with a question and answer period.

Reeves is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Reeves of South Bay. He graduated from Glades Day School in 1980 and was co-salutatorian of his class.

He told the students that he had entered the University of Mississippi in the fall of 1980. Upon entrance to the University, he

Sign language course offered in Pahokee

An eight week class in Beginning Sign Language will be offered in Pahokee by the Community School. The class will be held in the choir room at the First Baptist Church from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays beginning June 21.

There is no charge for the class, and registration can be completed at the first class session. The instructor will teach all of the basics of this universal and useful language to communicate with the hearing impaired.

Certificates of completion will be awarded. For further information call the Community School Office at 996-4950.

Singleton retires after 38 year career

BELLE GLADE—Nina M. Singleton retired as an instructor at Lake Shore Elementary School, after 38 years as a teacher.

Singleton worked as an instructor in exceptional child education for the past 15 years. Previously, she worked as a second grade teacher.

Lake Shore Elementary teachers and staff presented Singleton with a plaque on her last day of work, Friday, June 8.

Singleton reflected

RETIRING Lake Shore Elementary School instructor, Nina Singleton, receives an honorary plaque from principal Eddie Fitzgerald, on the teacher's last day of school, Friday, June 8.

on her career in education. "Education does not merely mean teaching students what they do not know, but that it is difficult work that must be done through kindness, love, respect, patience and tolerance," she said.

Aspects of teaching, which she will miss, warm reception from colleagues and the smiling faces of the students.

New arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Julio DeCastro of 343 W. Pasadena Ave., Clewiston, announce the birth of a daughter at 5:06 a.m. Saturday, June 9, at Good Samaritan Hospital. The infant, Olivia Diana DeCastro, weighed 8 pounds, 7 ounces and was 20 inches long.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emerito Carmona of Belle Glade.

Glades representative to resign from school board

BELLE GLADE—Glades representative on the Palm Beach County School Board, Sam Lovell said he will resign from the board, effective June 30.

Last Wednesday, June 6, board members approved Lovell's appointment as a teacher-coordinator for the Glades area adult education program, necessitating his resignation.

Gov. Bob Graham is responsible for selecting a replacement to complete Lovell's term which expires in November. Jill Chamberlin, the governor's deputy press secretary, said any Glades resident interested in the school board seat can contact Gwen Matthews, of the governor's appointment office, at 904-488-2813. Applications can also be mailed to the governor's ap-

Students receive GEDs

Several Glades-area residents are recipients of the State of Florida High School Diploma as a result of having passed the recent GED exam.

The Community School gave GED diplomas to the following graduates: Earl Buchanan, Blake Evans, Barbara Morris, Maria Serrano, Mark Sutterfield, and Brenda Weston.

There is no GED exam scheduled for the Glades during the month of June. The next exam will be July 24, 25, and 26.

People interested in taking that exam are urged not to wait until the July 19 deadline to sign up for the exam; register now and spend a month brushing up in "rusty" areas.

For further information contact the Community School Office at 996-4950.

Balloons lift off at Gove School

BELLE GLADE—The last day of school at Gove Elementary, Wednesday, June 6, was an uplifting experience for students pre-K through 5th grade.

A balloon lift-off was given in celebration of the last school day as well as a celebration of the success of the computer fund drive at Gove.

Gove Resource Teacher Glenie Davis said the computer fund drive was started to help raise enough money to buy computers for the media center for all students to have access to.

"We were trying to raise $4,000 so the state would match it to buy computers," Davis said. "In the mean time, we were chosen as a pilot program for Palm Beach County," she added.

That means Gove will now receive 10 computers, software and in-service training free, Davis said. Gove Elementary was one of only four schools in the county to get the computer funding.

The $4,483 the drive was started to school has raised to help raise enough money to buy computers for the media center for all students to have access to.

GOVE Elementary's balloon lift-off was a huge success with almost 1,000 colorful balloons filling the sky Wednesday, June 6. This little girl was reluctant to let go of her colorful prize.

2 teams remain unbeaten in mens softball race

BELLE GLADE—Two teams remain undefeated as the Belle Glade City Softball League moved into its fifth week of action.

Mace Sod retained its top spot and a perfect 4-0 record in the A division with a 9-5 victory over Ricky's Department Store, Tuesday, June 5. Carter Electric, in the C division, also continued its winning ways with victories over Willis Boys, 7-6, Wednesday, June 7, and Everglades Memorial Hospital, 11-4, Pahokee 24-16, the following night. A trio of B Division teams swept three games apiece in the week's action, through Monday, June 11.

Ag Service and Carter Chevrolet both swept through the week's schedule to share first place, with 6-2 marks. Sonny's Hardware used its hat trick to gain sole possession of third place with a 5-2 mark. In Monday's games, June 11, Billy Anderson went 3-3 to lead Sonny's past Seminole Supply, 11-4. Pahokee Merchants, aided by Dave Pelham's two hits, beat F&W Farms, 2-4.

David Ester led the Sheriff's Office past Everglades Memorial, 15-2, with a pair of hits. Rick Gold had a perfect night with three hits as Carter Chevrolet beat Crosby Mobile Homes, 12-5.

Sugar Supply rode Jose Rodriguez's hat trick at the plate to beat No Names, 13-1. And Ag Service beat Glades Sugar 8-6, as Dave Griffin went two for three.

Tourney slated

BELLE GLADE—The entry deadline for Belle Glade's City Early Firecracker softball tourney, slated Friday through Saturday, June 22-24, is nearing. The tourney will include an A and B division.

The first eight A division teams and the first 16 B division teams to sign up will be allowed to play in the tourney. Final deadline for entry is Tuesday, June 19. Entry fee is $90 per team.

Birthing center

chair and a rocking chair, the rooms are designed to make the mother's entire family feel comfortable and at home.

"We try to keep these rooms looking as least clinical as possible," Galbraith said. "The more simple the better."

The new center includes four birthing rooms, a commons room, an examining room and a procedures room.

Patients at the birthing center, including the first, are cared for by a team of obstetricians and midwives. Most prenatal care and actual deliveries is performed by the midwives. Galbraith stressed low risk pregnancies with no previous medical problems will be accepted into the center. And if any serious problems crop up during delivery, patients will be treated by the on call obstetrician and transferred to the appropriate facility.

Of course one of the biggest benefits to be attained through the birthing center is financial savings. The center will bill on a sliding scale, so while exact costs are hard to estimate, Galbraith said, savings could be substantial.

Patients will be discharged 12-24 hours after being admitted, and Galbraith noted much of the savings will come due to the limited stay. Since the center is aimed at migrant workers, many of the deliveries will be funded through various agencies. In fact, Borja's costs were picked up by a migrant program.

Another very important asset, Galbraith said, is the continuity of service. Prenatal examinations are available at the birthing center and other prenatal clinics are available in Clewiston, Okeechobee and Indiantown.

"We're giving continuity of care to people who couldn't afford it before," she said.

Galbraith noted while the center is primarily aimed for migrant workers throughout the Glades, it is available for anyone. Already people from West Palm Beach and Jensen Beach have shown interest in the center, she said.

Eventually, the center hopes to serve 1,000 Glades residents annually.

The center is staffed by two medical receptionists, six mid-wives, five LPNs and one RN.

While the center is open for service, official dedication ceremonies will be held Sunday, June 24, beginning at 2 p.m., on the front lawn.

Dr. Charlie Mahan, with the state division of Maternal Child Health and a professor at the University of Florida, will deliver the keynote address.

Gov. Bob Graham has indicated that while he will not be able to appear at the dedication ceremony, a representative of his office will make the trip. Galbraith said a representative of the Roosevelt family is expected at the ceremony. The Roosevelts were invited because the Memorial Wing, where the birthing center is located, was the original migrant hospital federally funded and dedicated by Eleanor Roosevelt back in the 1930's.

Tours of the new center will be conducted throughout the afternoon.

breakwater and the observation tower, are deteriorating and need repair. Padgett pointed out. Are these facilities still the city's responsibility, or now under the care of PMDC? he asked.

The city should decide whether they're going to honor the lease, or try and escape it, Padgett summarized.

At least one council member, Curtis Miners said he will address the validity of PMDC's lease at the workshop. "I want to discuss if we can get out of this," he said.

Council President W.E. McKinstry said that while anyone could attend the meeting, no public input would be allowed. A follow-up meeting will be scheduled, with both PMDC and council representatives present.

"You'll get your chance," McKinstry told Ray Hatton II, a representative of PMDC.

Hatton told the council that PMDC would want to respond, if the city was going to discuss any loopholes in the lease.

Attorney Mike Stauder told the council the state's latest position on the marina lease is that unless the city's permit is amended, they can not lease the facility.

Hatton said PMDC was working with state agencies toward getting the permit amended. He stressed the state has not given a definitive no, but has indicated the lease would be allowed, if the permit was amended.

In other council business: Councilman Walt Rashley reported that the Palm Beach County Commission has agreed to fund the construction of a new kitchen at the city park for about $14,359. At Tuesday's meeting, the council approved a bid on the construction to Glades and Grove Supply.

Hatton reported developers planning to build a mobile home trailer park outside city limits off SR 715 are waiting for responses from various state agencies, in regards to hooking up to the city's sewage system. McKinstry said the council will address the issue once the state responds.

The developers have proposed paying the city a $43,000 impact fee to be used to upgrade the city's sewage system, in order that the state moratorium on additional hookups be lifted. Jim Sudarth, city engineer, reported a representative from the state's Department of Environmental Regulations (DER) has indicated it would allow the out-of-town hookup, if the city can prove that the $43,000 would allow them to meet state sewage standards.

In related news, Sudarth said representatives from various state agencies, including the DER, Department of Health and the Environmental Protection Agency were scheduled to visit the wastewater plant in order to conduct various tests. Wednesday, June 13.

An adjourned meeting was scheduled for Thursday, June 14, at 6 p.m., to interview three candidates to replace retiring building inspector, Phelix Slonaker. The council will inspect Walker Lynn, James Dixon and Arthur Lee Williams to be interviewed by the council.

The city's auction is scheduled for Saturday, June 16, beginning at 10 a.m. in front of City Hall. Council members agreed payment on purchases will be required the day of the auction.

The council issued a taxi cab operator's license to John Slydell and referred several other applications to Police Chief Carmen Salvatore III.

Look up!

Those are the two words you should always keep in mind when you install or remove any antenna.

Look up to see if there are any power lines in your way. Make sure there's no danger of touching them, or even coming close.

Because if your CB or TV antenna makes contact with a power line, and you touch any part of that antenna or even a supporting guy wire, you could get a serious shock.

Make sure you have clearance distance all around that's no less than the height of the mast. And twice as far would be twice as safe.

We want you to enjoy clearer reception, but please play it safe and look up.

And that also goes for tree trimming, picking fruit, kite flying, or any other activity that puts you in possible contact with overhead lines.

Encouraging safety is just one way we're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

PAHOKEE -When the Robert O. Lampi Alumni Band marches in the Freedom Festival parade, July 4, the music may be a bit rusty.

Former Pahokee High School students throughout the years have decided to form the alumni band to honor retired band director

Robert O. Lampi. Over 60 grads, ranging from the class of 1940 to 1970, gathered at the First United Methodist Church, Saturday, June 9, to plan their debut performance.

When asked why they've decided to pick up old instruments and clear out the wind pipes, band members cited the deep respect they held for Lempi.

Vance Denton, noting he "played at" the snare drum in Lampi's first PHS band back in 1940, said, "Mr. Lampi played a big part in our lives. And everybody in this room can attest to that."

"It takes a certain kind of individual to make demands on kids and get what Bob Lampi was able to get back from them."

Sandra Lampi Jarriel, prime organizer of the alumni band and the director's daughter, said the response from former band members has been great. Hopefully a 75-piece band, including members from Texas, Michigan, North and South Carolina, will march July 4, she said.

Lampi, who directed the Pahokee High School band for 30 years up to his 1970 retirement, said he was a bit overwhelmed by the fast growing alumni band. "This is just fantastic," he said at Saturday's dinner.

The evening brought back an overflow of memories, Lampi said, noting he hadn't seen many of his students for years.

During the dinner many of those gathered reminisced about what it was like to play under Lampi. Discipline was a word which came up again and again.

Don Adams, who noted that he held the trombone in the band during the early 1950's, said he still carries tangible memories from his years under Lampi's tutelage. "I think I would have realized success in life except for the broken knuckles," he said with a wide grin.

Another band member said that while he escaped with knuckles intact he had fond memories of another student who wasn't quite so lucky. "My favorite memory of someone getting their knuckles rapped was when he asked Mel Tillis what 'dc' was and he said, 'District of Columbia.'"

All agreed, however, that the discipline in the long run helped them.

Sam Lovell, who played trombone in that 1940 band, recalled, "Mr. Lampi was an ideal teacher and band director. He was a real good disciplinarian and I owe him a lot."

Lory Steele, who played clarinet and was a drum major, noted that without Lampi's guidance and help she might never have gone to college. Steele was awarded a musical scholarship to attend the University of Miami.

Denton said several of Lampi's students graduated from the Pahokee High School band into the world of music. Lampi's son, Buddy, is band director at Lake Shore Middle School, in Belle Glade. Chuck Elia and Lee Jeffries are others who have made livings in the music profession, Denton said.

While all the grads expressed their willingness to honor Lampi, a few were a bit wary about their re-entry into the world of music. Several expressed doubt whether time had improved skills, which, they said, were questionable to begin with.

Steele said, despite pressure to the contrary, that she planned to be an appreciative spectator at the march.

Lovell, pointing out that he hadn't touched his trombone in 30 years, offered to switch instruments for the parade. The cymbals, he said, might better express his musical talent.

The band will get a chance to refine its act, during a rehearsal scheduled for Tuesday, June 19, beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the Pahokee High School band room.
